

Japanese Two Panel Screen: A Sedge of Cranes in a Rolling Landscape with Gold Dust Clouds

Meiji period (1868 - 1912) painting of a group of cranes gathering next to water's edge with gold dust clouds in the background. The scene is accented by wild grasses and lichen on the rock formation. Painted in mineral pigments on mulberry paper with gold dust. Mounted with a beautiful 19th century brocade with a bamboo motif and a black gloss lacquer frame. On the reverse is handmade backing paper with family crests in gold.
